Dear Judge O'Brien -

In regards to: Bankruptcy Petition #11-61215

I too read Jennifer McKinney's blog My Charming Kids. But I have also read a blog called MckMama Without Pity (or mwopblog.com). The MWOP blog provides this statement to describe what it is "about":

"This site is a successor site to the original MckMama Without Pity and is a place designed to discuss the inconsistencies and bad business / life practices preached in Jennifer McKinney's popular mommy blog, My Charming Kids."

It was there that I found links to and copies of all publicly available documents related to the McKinney's bankruptcy. Below are screen shots of the links and search categories provided on MWOP:

A Medical Timeline

Many MckMoney Messes

A Financial Timeline

Bankruptcy: Notice of Filing

Bankruptcy: The Documents

Bankruptcy: The Assets

Bankruptcy: The Liabilities

Bankruptcy: Income and Expenses

Bankruptcy: Misc. Financial

Bankruptcy Law: Discharge

Bankruptcy: Means Test Calculation

Bankruptcy: Errors and Omissions

In addition to the links, MckMama Without Pity boasts thousands of negative comments regarding the McKinneys. The enormity of this blog is evidenced by their post on February 1st garnering 1587 comments. Their February 2nd post garnered 1405. Choice among them...

From username GreatLactatingAfricanSavior: "JM is an emotional vampire, so maybe it fits"

From username MyManySmallBankruptcies: "It's part of the shitbrix meme, which has been going around since 2009. Of course MckMama would hijack such a simple thing. She's so worthless in every way."

From username FinallyWisenedUp: "I think he stepped back and realized how much she's dragged him down. Emotionally, financially, physically, spiritually ~ she's beat him to a pulp. On top of all that, she doesn't shave her legs, wears gorilla shoes, zero effort with physical appearance, cooks disgusting looking food, opinionated, arrogant, egomaniac, narcissist, schemer, manipulator, hypocrite, etc etc etc. You are right. I bet she told him to get out and not to come back, and he bolted. "Free at laaaaaast! Freeee at laaaaaast! Thank God Almighty I'm freee at laaaaaast!" I've also been wondering if his friends and coworkers have "heard" about her online shenanigans and have said things to him about it."

From username GagMeWithWarmHairyGoatMilk: "Poor little Jenny. Sleeping on the floor, crying herself to sleep with nothing by gorilla shoes and christmas panties:P"

Personally, I find the content of MckMama Without Pity to be offensive and to rise to the level of bullying. I believe members of this blog crossed the line and began to provide & obtain court documents via low resolution photographs prior to the documents' official release. In my opinion their conduct is abusive and not that of the average concerned citizen. Neither letter sent to you mentioned what appears to be their clear devotion and sole intent to degrade, humiliate, abuse, and interfere with Jennifer McKinney's life and (consequently) the life of her five small children. Their motivation should be exposed.

This is a screen shot of the post that details how the author received a low resolution picture of court documents within 24 hours of the court's receipt and before it was available to the public.

Time and Again

Usually I receive the truth behind MckMama's latest bit of 'reality' well after the fact, but today I was given an unusual head start. I received the correspondence sent to the court yesterday in the McKinney's escrow case against their landlord, and in advance of MckMama's latest post. It's even more interesting to watch her in progress, to see how she spins and omits, never being honest with her readers but thinking she can fool them anyway.

A kind reader sent me a low res image and I'm awaiting an easier-to-read scan, but here are the main points from the letter sent to the court by the McKinney's landlord, Mr. H:

Correspondence

Posted on January 19, 2012 by MWOPAnis

Linked below is the letter (now publicly recorded) from the landlord to the hearing officer for the rent escrow case that the McKinney's are bringing against their landlord. Any contact information has been redacted. This is a cleaner version that's much easier to read; left-click to view or right-click for additional options.

Correspondence: Landlord Letter

More information about the Rent Escrow Action process can be found on the Minnesota Judicial Branch's website.

Edit: I respectfully request that readers of this site avoid locating and/or contacting Mr. H, as we do not want to jeopardize his housing case. In addition, please only post information about him as it pertains to the letter at hand.

Thank you.

I have written this letter with considerable risk. I am sure that this letter will hastily be posted to MckMama Without Pity without my personal information being redacted (as they did for their members). Even if my personal information is redacted I have every confidence that it will be distributed among their members via private communications for use in attacking me. This will require me to start a rabbit trail of legal action that I will insist upon for self-protection. I am writing this letter despite the risk because it is fair and right that the court be made aware of those who attempt to deceive it.

I ask that you strongly consider the possible motives behind the other correspondence you have received. I firmly believe that the other correspondence you have received was written by those who participate in the MckMama Without Pity blog. The first three 'hits' on a google search of "Jennifer McKinney bankruptcy" are links to the MWOP blog. The MWOP blog is the only place I was able to find all the relevant information of Jennifer McKinney's bankruptcy. And the screen shots below document a comment thread about participants of MckMama Without Pity planning to attend prior court hearings.

I just replied to a comment further down, but wanted to say it again. I am available to go on Monday if NO ONE else is. I honestly would feel really weird going, but since I'm an hour away, and have nothing to do that day (Winter break from school)-I will consider it if no one else steps up to the plate. Anja, if you wanted to contact me, you can do so at xxxxxxxxxxxx.

Edited to remove e-mail; thanks!

Dangit! I could have gone, but I took a sub job on Monday...if it falls through (doubtful, but sometimes they do) I might just have to take a trip up there. I'm in the cities and have no kids. I don't know how I missed that people could go? :/

If I weren't 4 hours away (and also with 2 kids in tow), I would totally be there. Here's to hoping you can find a friend or 2 - heck even grab strangers off the street - to go too.

Yay! I would go except I live south of the Twin Cities, and would have to bring two little kids. I don't think they would share my enthusiasm for the adventure.

Just so you know...we had to bring our two very young babies with us for our bankruptcy hearing. It was so.much.fun! (insert sarcasm here)

Careful about that as it might be illegal in the building. Photos outdoors are likely okay.

Hope JM knows this. She is probably planning a skinny door reflection shot again.

If you can manage that would be great. Carry a folder if it helps look like you have pertinent documents of your own and a smart phone or something to occupy yourself.(Have no idea about rules for laptops,etc.) Can you find friend to go with you. I'm in Texas so no help at all. I'm sure it will be educational in and of itself. Kind of like jury duty.

That's what I was thinking! Dress nicely, carry some documents. She is totally going to be on the lookout now! I would need to be completely debriefed on any details "we" have before doing this! :)

As a tax paying citizen you certainly have the right to be there if they are allowing people in.

Jennifer McKinney is far from perfect, as are we all. However, she and her family still retain their absolute right to seek all legal remedies available to them in this difficult situation and for that remedy to be adjudicated fairly without the court being deceived by people who have devoted a significant portion of their time and energy to destroying Jennifer McKinney.

Sincerely,
